

I support the 10 day waiting period before retesting and the two year waiting period before applying for vanity call sign.

Although the way the current question pool is handled may not be the best method, I do not see the value of starting over.